

Elastic M2M, Inc.

Our company develops and has delivered an elastic application platform for the exploding Internet of Things (IoT) and Machine 2 Machine (M2M) market. We have accelerated the market launch of numerous customer brands on our platform providing web and mobile connected applications. Our team are veterans from IoT companies, Cisco Systems and Lockheed Martin. Our technology is exciting and cutting edge and we are building what will be the premier technology company in the area with a culture to match.

Position: Software Developer

Location: Herndon, Virginia

Summary:

We are seeking a high caliber software engineers to build web and mobile applications for our elastic application platform providing actionable intelligence on the IoT data using analytics and machine learning. The ideal candidate will have a strong desire to learn, deliver the best high quality, high performance software, contribute to our culture and technologies in an exciting, fast-paced, and collaborative environment. We offer mentoring and growing your experience in some of the most cutting edge technologies in the industry along with a highly flexible working arrangements in what will be the next major growth market. This position reports to the CTO.

Responsibilities:

Design and build software services for our Platform as a Service (PaaS) across all parts of the system including back end message processing, business logic, front end intuitive user interfaces, analytics, device management and mobile devices.

- Learn to build infrastructure as code for a cloud based environment using container services.
- Design, code, unit test application features using Continuous Integration (CI).
- Work in an Agile and SCRUM based environment.
- Design and develop both front end and back end components for our apps.
- Work with engineering leaders and product owner to scope work and produce estimates.
- Leverage technology knowledge to advance product architecture & create technical designs.

Requirements:

- 2 - 3 years experience building great software using Javascript (Ideally AngularJS, Nodejs).
- Web browser technologies, such as CSS3, HTML5 and AJAX and the principles of responsive design.
- Implemented RESTful/JSON web services.
- Understands fundamentals of agile methodologies, SCRUM, continuous integration (Jenkins), Tools such as Github, JIRA, Trello, Slack.
- Proven ability to perform in a collaborative, team-oriented environment with a strong customer orientation.
- A hands-on, “roll up the sleeves”, action-oriented approach coupled with a creative spirit.

- Must be impeccably honest and ethical, who is passionate, self managed and results focused.
- Superior verbal and written skills.
- B.S. degree in Computer Science or Computer Information Systems.

Any of the following will be an advantage:

- Experience with Amazon Web Services AWS (EC2, S3, Kinesis, DynamoDB, Lambda).
- Implemented automated deployments using Elastic Beanstalk, Docker, Cloud Foundation, Ansible.
- Knowledge of Leaflet libraries.
- Knowledge of Javascript charting libraries.
- Developed telematics, analytics or with mapping applications.
- Mobile applications development (iOS, Android, and Mobile Web).
- Worked in a successful startup environment.

Compensation:

An attractive compensation package will be offered including base salary and stock options.

Please send your resume to careers@elasticm2m.com referencing the position.